CHRISTMAS SERVICE SCHEDULE CHANGE

As you are aware Christmas occurs on a Sunday this year. This is probably the most appropriate day of the week for Christmas to fall on, but it does present some challenges with most families in regard to Christmas traditions. The elders here certainly are aware that these traditions are important in our families, and are part of what provides a foundation of good memories for our children. While some churches simply cancel services for the day we find it rather strange to celebrate our Savior's coming by ignoring the Biblical precept of assembling as His Church. In order to provide you with a little more time with your family on that day, we will delay our morning worship on December 25 to begin at 10:30 a.m. Bible classes will not be held that morning, but our regular worship will remain unchanged. We will also provide a 6:00 p.m. communion service for those who may not have been able to attend that morning. Please enjoy Christmas morning with your family and then finish out your Christmas morning here with your Church family at Dayton.

HEROES, MARTYRS, & SAINTS

A lot of folks, it seems, would like to do some great thing with their lives. Those same folks seem to think that the doing of great things is reserved for just a chosen few. Folks we call heroes or martyrs or saints....but not them. But what if the greatest thing isn't to "go out in a blaze of glory", but to simply honor God with a life that consistently seeks to do His will in the everyday things.....not climbing the highest mountain, but staying on the uneven course that life has marked out for you.....not dying for your faith, but staying true to it over a difficult lifetime.

Let me remind us all that the old adage "we live our lives one day at a time" has been proven true over the centuries of human experience. What we do with our life each day in the experiences that come our way reflect to God and the world either the selfishness that denies God access to our lives or the selflessness that is found in every hero, martyr, or saint. The time God gives us in this world simply cannot be stored up. It's like the manna that fed the children of God in the wilderness. It couldn't last beyond the days end. Life really is what we do while we are waiting for something really important to come along. So while we are waiting we marry....give birth to children.....pray through our tears when those children struggle.....invest our whole heart in their raising as we seek to mold a life for what lies ahead in this challenging world. We give our employer our very best effort. We help support a neighbor who is struggling even more than we. We remain true to the Lord and His Church serving daily in the capacity to which we have been called. We spend our quality time with the people who need us more than they need our money. We confront our own weaknesses, doubts, and inabilities with the strength that God alone can provide. It's true that our heroes put on the uniform and sacrifice and die on foreign fields. It's also true that they put on their work clothes and head off to a days work to support a family. They fill our pews, write the checks that support orphans and the needy, live soberly, live righteously, and live godly each day in their world.....doing great things that the world never recognizes, but which are written on the heart of God. Thank you for remaining true to Him every day.
